A Paris Letter

(From W. G. Moffatt.)

Dear Mr. Editor:—If London appeared a busy place at times and if Prague could be said to "thum" in the central parts, then Paris may be described as Bedlam. It is the noisy city. The French must shout. In Prague every person seemed busy but the work seemed to go on without any unnecessary talk. It was not obligatory on the part of the buyer to bow and scrape and say "Merci bien" ten times. Therefore they bargained in silence. Such daily business would lose its charm for the Parisian. They must talk—in laughter—in anger, in seriousness or in mockery—but they cannot do it in silence.

While in Prague I talked only to those whom I knew and rarely came in contact with the citizens. In Paris however I have had good cause to become intimately acquainted with the Parisians and know something of that great nuisance to all tourists—the evil of "tips." The people over here simply glare over foreigners.

Upon entering a hotel, a porter seizes every scrap of luggage you have and these are distributed among the others who crowd around to share in the spoils. Each man who touches a bag must receive a "teep." From that time on, you may prepare for the worst. If the unlucky lodger tries to open a door, a hand stretches out with supercilious zeal and opens it for him. If you call a cab, a man opens the door. If there is one, he holds his hat out, anyway. However one comfort is that they are contented with a very small contribution.

At present I am living on Rue d'Amsterdam, which is one of the very steep thoroughfares leading from the heart of Paris to Montmartre, the northern portion. This is the part of the city where stands the Eiffel, it is a slightly more respectable district than the Marier Lation (where all students live some years ago) and yet it scarcely compares with such a residential district as well, let us say, Knob Hill. This is an ideal place in which to pass a few weeks. Paris stretches out from the foot of the Eiffel. The Opera House and concert halls are in easy reaching distances, and from our seat several very good views.

On the top of the hill is the high convent of Sacre Coeur. On one side stretch street after street of high dismal houses forming part of that of Montmartre called Les Batignolles and is the district where the recent taxicab murders took place. Only to-day I see an account of two more policemen killed in attempting to arrest an anarchist. The remaining part of Montmartre is very interesting. It is the oldest part of Paris excepting that portion built near the Seine. Many cottages belonging to the artists are covered with rose hedges and here and there is a little bit of statuary belonging to some student who delights in seeing his own work decorating the gardens. In fact most of the artists' houses are decorated by specimens of their own work, and one young painter at whose lodging house I had occasion to make a visit, told us that he generally painted a panel on the walls every time he could not pay his rent. There were about six panels when I was there. These, you must remember, are not that class of artists who receive a few hundred dollars for a single picture but rather the painter struggling up by a very rough road, to the height of fame. If I am not mistaken, I guess I think a number will have to work more and talk less or they will remain on the road for the rest of their life.

I once saw at the London Opera House a fine performance of the French Opera "Louise" by Charpentier. In the third act, the curtain goes up on a scene of very great beauty. An artist's house, decked with flowers, with trellis work out to the gateway, loaded with vines, and in the distance, the lights of Paris appearing (the elevated railway comes) one by one until the whole city lighted up, leaving the little garden in the foreground quite in the darkness. That is exactly the way it happens. I never knew what a clever stage production it was until I saw the same thing happen with my own eyes. Paris is never quiet as wonderful in daylight as it is by night. Then it comes very near to busting London by day. The musical and art students are a very fond of company. Montmartreans breakfast and lunch anywhere, but only one place in the world will do for dinner, and that is Montmartre

(when convenient of course). There is a restaurant up here, famed all over Paris for the seven o'clock dinners among the students. It is Le Pignolle Cafe. Here Gounod, Scribe and Meyerbeer have dined and here also Rossini spent many an hour. One long table stretches the length of the dining room, dozens of smaller ones are placed at right angles to this. A high fire-place fills one end of the room. Great brass ornaments hang over it, and at one side hangs an oil painting of Brannome, the proprietor of the time of the "Revolution." On one side is a high piece of work in plaster representing a dipper of the Montmartreans, done by the sculptor Meunier in his spare moments at the Eglise. This high room has nothing in common with the Cafe restaurant adjoining it. The latter is for the ordinary customer and the great room for the students who are the regular customers.

The first meal I had here was in company with two of the London Frenchmen, one of whom lives near Montmartre and who was well known here. Consequently I was saved a great deal of embarrassment. I was introduced by an old inmate of the house. From the corner of the room I was able to see one of the strangest and most interesting sights that I have ever witnessed. Miss Noh, once herself a singer, sat at the top of the room and on either side of her, sat a son, one of whom is singing in the Lyric Theatre. I am afraid the average Claresholmite would be inclined to shake his head on looking over the crowd of diners. One man with long black curls and a large black bow around his neck sang the whole meal. An artist from the Louvre, who by report seems to be very clever, caused great amusement by using a figure of Michel Noh out of the soft part of the French bread. This was passed around the room until the lady herself received it, and she sat the head of the table. I am inventing this, she really did it.

The French know how to dine well. They talk much and thus get plenty of time for each course to digest. All drink wine at twenty centimes a bottle which tastes much better than anything the English sell for a shilling. Snails are very popular at the evening meal and are cooked with mushrooms and bread crumbs. Snails also seems to be a favorite vegetable. Leaving back to my chair, the Frenchman lowers it, stalk by stalk into his mouth and yet it excites no comment among his fellow diners. In England he would be the centre of a crowd in five minutes. The whole affair in fact seemed somewhat farfetched and although it does for a week or so, I think that a life in Paris must get very tiresome. Everyone is very agreeable, however, and for so much talking I think there is very little ill-nature shown among the Montmartreans.

I noticed a young lad of eighteen smoking three cigarettes at once while playing the piano at the close of the dinner hour, and as each one became so short for smoking, it was the cry the heads of the crowd to one light where it might. Two young ladies who had evidently been copying pictures at one of the Art Galleries, arrived in very dusty gowns with splashes of paint on their faces and hands. In fact every individual whom I noticed seemed to count the attention of his companions by some peculiar conduct which was being exactly rude would certainly be seen odd among any other class of people. Never mind, I enjoyed it. The music was the best. Last night I was requested to play at a little soiree held after every dinner and, not feeling so strange as I did at first among so many strangers, I played the Staroleta Caprice by Valse. When I finished I was requested to play it again this time the boy of the three cigarette fame incorporated an accompaniment on an old piano in the corner of the room. Two violinists played the melody and the remainder of the audience who could do so, put in the harmony with hats doled up in front of their mouths. I have played many piano solos but never before in just such a manner. However I enjoyed it, a bit much more so than playing for a crowd, who take no notice of the music and who talk during the performance. One sees a great deal of that sort of thing in England.

Well so much for Montmartre. The time is easily taken up here in concerts and sight seeing. At the National Opera House I have heard wonderfully good music. Massenet's new opera "Homer" is a wonderful affair. At Berardiere Theatre I saw the divine Sura in Lucresia Borgia and Camille. The opera Comique is quite as good as the London Opera House in the musical line but is not nearly so comfortable. Culy is singing here with all Parisian training to hear her.

To name all the wonderful sights would be impossible and would be tiresome as well. Like London, Paris is full of old historical places which alone would take a week to see thoroughly. At Quai d'Orsay I saw some fine aviation exhibitions six machines in the air at once. We had to journey out of Paris for some little distance to see the exhibition but it was worth the trouble and time spent in doing so.

I hope some time before long, perhaps in Cologne—to write a short letter with more of the Paris life in it and also a little about Prague. I think I am writing very disconnected and uninteresting letters to your paper, but my time is completely taken up one way or the other and on this ground alone you must overlook much that would otherwise be unexcusable. Trusting that Claresholm and all Alberta is enjoying an agreeable weather as we are having in Paris, I remain

Yours faithfully,
Wm. G. Moffatt.

The recent rain has done a world of good for the country. Although there is little doubt that the crops would have been very good without the rain still it will help everything to grow. Especially is it good for the late-sown crops. The farmers here are all happy and already see the granaries filled with golden wheat. Prosperity for ours.

As Mr. Lackey, the Harbor Engineer, says. Therefore

PORT MANN IS A CITY OF CERTAINTIES

The thing that stands out about Port Mann is the absolute certainty of its future. Men who made fortunes in New York, Chicago, Seattle, Vancouver were taking a gambler's chance. Men who invest in Port Mann take NO chance. You can forecast with certainty the future of Port Mann. With its fresh water harbor, and the terminus of a great transcontinental railway, backed by the vast wealth of Canada, it will soon become the Liverpool of Western Canada. Meadow Creek Notes

It is hoped that every one will soon have the crops in as so many have to stay home on Sunday as the horses work hard all week.

A nice gentle rain which came Saturday evening and still is coming was welcomed by everyone and it came in time to bring up the late sown grain.

Election will be held in the Meadow Creek School House May 27th.

Services are held in the Meadow Creek School House every Sunday at 3 p.m. every one is invited to come.

Meadow Creek is coming to the front as there is telephoned, also scattered along the road along the creek. It is hoped it is not a bluff, but the real thing as it is needed very much out here.

Mrs. L. E. Maxwell is improving slowly after four weeks of illness. It is hoped she will soon be well again.

Mrs. J.W. Hanna and baby arrived here May 7th from Ireland to join her husband who had been here for one year teaching the Cornforth School, which will reside near the Cornforth School where Mr. Hanna has a house already and is putting in a large garden.

To the Electors of Claresholm Riding MY PLATFORM

1. Direct Legislation (initiative, referendum and recall).
2. Provincial Ownership and control of natural resources and Public Domain.
3. Government Loans to settlers at low rates of interest.
4. Public Ownership of public utilities.
5. Government Hail Insurance.
6. Public ownership and control of railways.
7. Amendment of the liquor license laws.
8. Expenditure of larger sums of money upon roads, bridges, and telephones.
9. Improvement in Telephone Service to farmers, and the establishment of a night service in all towns.
10. Civil Service reform. Appointments to be based upon ability and fitness and not upon political influence.

D. S. McMillan, M.D.

THE CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATES PLATFORM ANSWERED.

He Does Not Know His Own Party's Record or Position.

Dr. McMillan, the Conservative Candidate, is Publishing a Platform Upon Which He is Appealing to the Electors. The Platform Contains Many Good Liberal Planks in it, But Resting on the Insecure Foundations of Conservative Backing. It Resembles A Teeter-totter Overweighed at One End.

1. The first plank in the platform is DIRECT LEGISLATION.

This is a Liberal policy. Last Session, Hon. Charles Stewart of Selkirk proposed a resolution which was unanimously passed directing that a commission be appointed to investigate the whole subject, "WITH A VIEW TO BRINGING IN LEGISLATION WITH RESPECT THERETO AT THE NEXT SESSION."

If Dr. McMillan's friends objected to this, as they now say, as not going far enough why did they not propose an amendment defining their position, and making it a matter of record on the Journals of the House?

The opposition in the House never mentioned the subject until Mr. Stewart proposed his legislation. Strange isn't it?

ROBIN'S VIEWS.

The answer is to be found in the fact that the Conservative party has no real desire to support Direct Legislation. Its leaders are opposed to it. Premier Roden of Manitoba, who has sent a bunch of his workers into Alberta to supply funds and assist the Conservative campaign, was banqueting at Winnipeg a month ago. Speaking on that occasion of those who supported Direct Legislation, like Dr. McMillan, he said they were "conspirators" and "demagogues"; who sometimes by open and heroic assaults, again by mining and sapping, the subterranean methods, attempt to create discontent and bring discredit upon law and institutions as we have them, and thereby seek to undermine THE BRITISH CONSTITUTION AND BRITISH LIBERTY, AND WHO FOR THIRTY YEARS OF SLAVE WOULD KILL KING, GOD AND THEMSELVES." That is the real position of the men who are supporting Dr. McMillan's campaign fund on this question.

Who is most likely to secure legislation on Direct Legislation, Hon. Charles Stewart, who has been taken into the cabinet as a colleague of Hon. Malcolm McKeenle, or Dr. McMillan, the humble follower of a party with leaders who talk like Mr. Roblin?

ELECTORS OF CLARESHOLM: DO NOT BE FOOLED.

"THE SECOND PLANK IN DR. McMILLAN'S PLATFORM IS PROVINCIAL OWNERSHIP AND CONTROL OF OUR NATURAL RESOURCES AND THE PUBLIC DOMAIN."

This is part of the Liberal Policy as declared in the Legislature. Premier Roden promised Alberta her natural resources last August. Why has he not given them to us?

Mr. Michener, Dr. McMillan's leader, if elected, says we ought not to get our natural resources until the Sifton Government is defeated. That means we may not get them for many years. But if the Province is entrusted to its natural resources, it is entitled to the proceeds of the party in power.

In Manitoba there is a Conservative Government. Yet in bordering terms with Manitoba Mr. Roden took care not to give them their natural resources, but an allowance like Alberta, and he took from that Province a few months ago the only natural resources it possessed, 8,000,000 acres of swamp lands.

THIS LOOKS BAD FOR OUR CHANCES OF GETTING OUR NATURAL RESOURCES UNDER THE NEW CONSERVATIVE GOVERNMENT AT OTTAWA.

3. Government loans to settlers at low rates of interest is the third plank in the Doctor's platform.

At Meadow Creek the other night he said he did not see why if the Government pledged the credit of the Province to railways for millions that they should not provide $120,000,000 for loans to farmers.

Apparently the doctor does not understand the difference between backing another man's note, when the man is reliable, and actually borrowing money yourself, on your own security, for a much larger amount. Would the PEOPLE OF THIS COUNTRY LIKE TO HAND OVER TO ANY CONSERVATIVE GOVERNMENT 120 millions of dollars, or even 20 million to loan to their friends. Would it be good business, or would it be political business? The way a Conservative party has handled Government literature and Government Telephones when they had a chance in this country shows what the result would be.

In any case the example they cite of New Zealand is an instance of a federal government, and not of a Provincial Government undertaking such work. Perhaps it would be better if the Conservative Government of R. L. Borden would take steps to restrain their friends the big bankers, and loan companies from sending out money to New York to be loaned at 4 per cent while a stringency is thus created in this country, which forced the Laurier government to come to the assistance of the farmers in the handling of the western crop a few years ago.

Dr. McMillan's scheme is the visionary and impractical scheme of a great deal of money, which if successfully brought about would offer unlimited opportunities of political graft to his more experienced colleagues.

4. Public Ownership of Public Utilities is the next plank. This is a good Liberal doctrine. We have it in force in Alberta to-day in our Telephone system, which is admitted to be the best example of its kind in the world.

Again to take an example from the only province produced under Conservative rule, Manitoba, there we find that public ownership administered by a party opposed to the real principle of public ownership has resulted in a worse service than under the Bell monopoly with a prospect of double the cost. To-day the rates for rural phones there are considerably higher than in Alberta, and there is a heavy deficit in the accounts instead of a surplus as in Alberta. Gross mismanagement and political corruption has been proven against the system.

The public ownership of the Elevators in Manitoba has similarly been a failure. The farmers distrust them and complain of being robbed. The Conservative government there is now offering to sell or lease its elevators.

5. Dr. McMillan declares in favor of Government Hail Insurance. The Government of Alberta paid out $500,000 more than it received in six years in hail insurance, because the farmers of Alberta did not support the Government insurance scheme. In one year the losses paid out were $300,000.

The difficulty about government hail insurance is that the farmers in districts where they suffer from frost rather than hail say why should we pay for hail losses and get no assistance for frost losses.

Dr. McMillan can give no instance in this country even trying to give government hail insurance to the "Alberta Government has done. Deeds speak louder than words.

HIS PARTY AGAIN HIM

6 and 8. In these two planks Dr. McMillan declares for public ownership and control of railways and for expenditure of larger sums on roads bridges and telephones.

With regard to railways Dr. McMillan's leader Mr. Michener, complained in the Legislature according to his paper the Edmonton Journal of Feb. 12th, last that the C. P. R. was not getting assistance from the Government for branch lines. He objected to building competitive lines of railroad into the C. P. R. territory and said "It would certainly seem a more effective way to supply the demand for railway transportation to all parts of the Province if the Government were to give a fair share of the territory of the Province to this great company naturally tributary to their lines."

In other words Mr. Michener wants not control or ownership of railways but a free hand for the C. P. R. which he thinks ought not to be annoyed by competitive railways.

DO THE FARMERS OF CLARESHOLM WANT TO KEEP OTHER RAILWAYS OUT FOR THE SAKE OF THE C. P. R?

In the matter of roads and bridges the doctor is also ignorant of his party record, and of what the government is doing. The Government is raising $500,000 for roads of which $100,000 appears in this year's program.

T. M. Tweedie, another of Dr. McMillan's leaders in the legislature, said on Dec. 9, 1911, that he was opposed to any money being spent on roads or bridges, or to put forward any railroad policy, or to do anything to get the natural resources of this province until after the next general election, which need not be held for two years.

DO THE CLARESHOLM FARMERS WANT TO WAIT FOR THEIR SHARE OF THAT $500,000 FOR ROADS, BRIDGES, ETC., FOR ANOTHER TWO YEARS?

7. Dr. McMillan says he favors the amendment of the Liquor License Act. What does he mean? Does he want more licenses or less? Does he favor temperance or not?

If he favors temperance amendments it is fair to assume that they would be drawn up by the Junior Conservative member for Calgary, the well known TEMPERANCE MAN of the party. Is that what the temperance men of Claresholm would like?

9. Improvement in Telephones. Does Dr. McMillan know that since 1909 there has been a total of 248 miles constructed in the Claresholm Riding, distributed as follows: 6 circuits out of Claresholm, 5 out of Grassano, 6 out of Barons, 3 out of Mounach, and this year's program includes the construction of 150 miles of new lines.

Any reasonable man will concede that this, besides being unprecedented in any district of its size in the world, is as far as any government would be justified in going with the means at its disposal.

10. CIVIL SERVICE REFORM. This is an ancient and honorable Tory doctrine, the chief exponent of which is one Hon. R. L. Borden, Premier of the Dominion, who is exemplifying it every day by the dismissal of competent officials because they are supposed to be Liberals, and by their appointment to their places of untrained men, whose only qualifications are that they are Conservatives.

Notes of the Campaign.

If Hon. Malcolm McKenzie had been guilty of one quarter of what he is charged with he ought to have been in jail years ago, and there is no reason why he should not have been put there, but the fact that the cowardly users of those attacks have to shelter themselves behind the Eye-Opener and wait until a week before election to spring those charges stamps them as men who stab in the dark.

We do not believe the charges against Mr. McKenzie, who has the documentary proofs to show how false many of them are. Others are so vague in their insinuations that they are hard to answer, but without desire to show a strong party spirit, which should never be the principal of a local home paper the Review feels bound to come to the defence of the representative of this constituency.

It is safe to say that some of the men who signed Dr. McMillan's nomination paper are just as ignorant as McKenzie's friends at the way in which hundreds of Eye-Opener with the tainted stories of a bunch of Calgary men have been circulated to try and blacken McKenzie's private character. There is only one way to color their skirts, however, and that is to vote for the malignant man.

Suppose for one moment that the Review were to descend to the level of a certain Calgary paper and publish some of the rumors as to why certain men left the east, or to tell of how others obtained landestads by overbearing private conversations, and robbing their hosts, or to go into some cattle deals that have taken place, what would happen.

The editor of the Eye-Opener was chased out of Calgary some years ago by another newspaper, which used plain terms about him that he never endured to use against another man. He is back again now, protected by men whose reputation is so bad that they pay him and protect him to keep him from telling some home truths about them.

A true Christian spirit can be shown by believing the best about even your opponents and refusing to credit the anonymous attacks of recognized sources of dirt. Even if a man were guilty he should be entitled to be tried by his peers, and not by a gutter newspaper.

If the Clareholm people are half as good a type as we have always believed them to be, they have always believed that they have always believed that the Conservative votes which will be recorded for McKenzie next Monday in dispute of these tactics will outnumber three to one any waverers turned because of the slanders.

Mrs. Strong, whose name is used in one of the attacks, died only about a year ago. What a strange thing that these charges could not have been made during some of the eighteen years since they were supposed to have happened, during which she was alive.

Malcolm McKenzie is a man who has been long in public life. He has been assailed by mud-slingers more than once. The attacks have gone into the courts, and have been discussed in houses of Commons, but so far nothing has been made to stick.

Treat an outside organ which defiles the household it is brought into, worse than you would a local paper which makes a mistake. Everyone is liable to err, but only scandalize, go in for blackmail or publish slanders for a price.

Dr. McMillan would have made a better run had he depended on his own popularity and not allowed the importation of the gutter rag from Calgary.

The men who benefit by slanders and who help to circulate it are just as bad as those who manufacture it.

The Calgary Eye-Opener is a paper assailed by the Moral and Social Reform League for its filthy language.

Dr. McMillan may well say "Preserve me from my so-called friends."

It is regrettable that a campaign of slander should have been mounted too.

The whist drive which was to be held this evening has been postponed until tomorrow night on account of the big political meeting to be held tonight.

Pat Murphy who made a visit to his home in Montana a few days ago, has returned, and reports everything in fine shape in that part of the country.

Mrs. Fred Passche of Calgary, who has been visiting for some time with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gustmann of Willow Creek, returned to her home Friday last.

The election campaign seems to be about the only thing this past week. Very little else doing in the line of news. Perhaps next week will see a change. We hope so at least.

T. L. Benard seems to have a liking for white dogs. He tried to annex one of the light colored species while in Lethbridge. But he will sell you all about it if you ask him.

A big time is expected at Cayley tomorrow when the Clareholm football team go there for a game. It being a holiday there will probably be a good representation from here to cheer the boys to victory.

In an exciting game between the Barons and Carmangany teams this week the Carmangany men were awarded a shut out. Barons had the game from the start and when the end came the score stood 12-0. There must be class to the Barons aggregation.

A very successful meeting is the interests of the Hon. Malcolm McKenzie was held at Meadow Creek on Tuesday evening at which nearly 800 faced the disapprobation shown to hear the Provincial Treasurer speak. Mr. John Wolf, former M. P. from Cardston was also present and addressed the meeting. The candidate made a very impressive address and was enthusiastically greeted by those present. There is little to be said that Mr. McKenzie will roll up a large majority in Meadow Creek at the poll there on Monday next. Mr. McKenzie was accompanied on the trip from Lethbridge by Messrs. C. W. James, Wm. Moffatt and John Wolf.

United Farmers' Association Meets.

A gathering of farmers representing the Clareholm election constituency met in the Parish Hall on Saturday last to discuss the present political situation. The gathering was fairly representative and quite a number took part in the business of the meeting. Resolutions had been carried at meetings held in some of the outlying districts favoring the selection of a farmer candidate to contest the election next Monday. Had the meeting in Clareholm been called a week earlier there is little doubt that those resolutions would have been carried into effect. Most of the speakers were Liberals in principle but not very satisfied with the Liberal candidate. Some thought that to vote Conservative would give the Eastern Provinces an opportunity of contending that the West was going back on reciprocity. A suggestion was made that the farmers decide to vote as a body for one or another of the candidates but no action was taken in this regard. A resolution that owing to the short time left to prepare for the election that no candidate be selected to run at this bye election in this constituency was carried. Another resolution that a convention be called at an early date for the purpose of selecting a farmers candidate to contest this constituency at the Provincial general election was carried unanimously.

HAVE YOU A SKIN RASH?

Zan-Buk Will End It.

For skin rashes, eruptions, eczema, etc., either in the children or the adults there is nothing known to science which equals Zan-Buk in the quickness and certainty of the curative power. Mr. Raymond Webster, of Albany, Ont., writes: "I have tried Zan-Buk for many ailments, and every time have found it successful. Some time ago I had a bad rash all over my body. I tried home-made ointments, herbs, salves, and various home-made preparations, and these proved of no use, but when I tried Zan-Buk I was cured in a quarter of the time that I had been experimenting in vain with other preparations."

"On another occasion I had one of my fingers crushed, and in that case also Zan-Buk was the only remedy I used. It healed the wound speedily."

"My boy had boils and once again Zan-Buk brought about a complete cure. We have also used it as a household balm, for the injuries and skin diseases which are common to every person, and can say that in our experience there is no ointment to equal Zan-Buk."

Zan-Buk owes its unique healing power to certain herbs which it contains. Unlike most ointments it contains no poisonous coloring matter, no animal fat, but is purely herbaceous. Eczema, skin eruptions, ulcers, sores, burns and all skin injuries and diseases it is without equal, and would be in every home. 50c box, all druggists and stores. Use also Zan-Buk Soap, 50c. tablet.

What the Paris Police Are Paid.

The Paris police who risked their lives in trying to arrest the members of the automobile bandit band are not overpaid.

The chief inspector, Colman, receives $150 a year and has reached the highest rate in the service. Sergeant Henry has $100 a year. After him comes Inspector Rhot, who arrested Hannay, for which day's work he got $150.

Inspector Leroy has $114 a day and Inspector Severin and Huet, who after watching for three consecutive nights, arrested Hannay, received $100, do not receive quite $115 a day.

Inspector Nansen, who arrested one of the gang, Paul Desher, gets the same amount.

It is true that pensions are paid after a certain length of service, but it is not surprising in view of the scale of the pay that such pensions in Paris detective service should be attracted by private work.

A lady recently stopped at an east-end cigar butchers' stall and purchased a joint at threepence a pound. She returned shortly after and complained that it was not as good as naphtha from one of the butchers' stalls.

"Sweep me!" remarked the butcher. "You girls don't want much more than I want. You're not a bit of a look what was bred by King George himself for threepence a pound, and you ain't satisfied! You're sick! Sweep, sweep, if you don't like it, Sunday's joint flavored with headache Cologne, you'll have to sweep another 'sweep'!"

Tommy's Aunt—Wont "you have another piece of cake, Tommy?" Tommy (on a visit)—No, I thank you.

Tommy's Aunt—You seem to be suffering from loss of appetite, Tommy. Tommy—That ain't loss of appetite. What I'm suffering from is politeness.

WOMAN SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Other Women to Know How She Was Finally Restored to Health.

Hammond, Ont.—"I am passing through the Change of Life and for two years had but flukes very bad, head aches, screens in the back of head, was constipated, and had weak, nervous feelings. The doctor who attended me for a number of years did not help me, but I have been entirely cured of all the above symptoms by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier and Laxative Pills, and give you permission to publish my testimonial."—Mrs. LOUIE BRADSHAW, 37, Hammond, Ont.

New Brunswick—"I can highly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any suffering woman. I have taken it for female weakness and nervous prostration and it cured me."—Mrs. DEWEY BARROW, Harvey Park, New Brunswick.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills. We know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact. Every suffering woman who is so afflicted by the above troubles is invited to be helped by give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medical Co. (confidential), 233 State St., Lowell, Mass. Letters will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

The Evil of Idleness.

It has been said that idleness is the mother of mischief. It is also the mother of ill-health.

The lack of muscular and mental activity plays havoc with the various tissues and functions of the human body. The science of physiology teaches that idleness and inactivity breed disease and death. Dewey follows this statement as naturally as follows:

The law of life, whether purely physical or intellectual, is activity—constant activity. Just in proportion as you cease to work you cease to live. In health we sleep sweetly and soundly, and work willingly. We eat with a relish, and are hopeful and happy. Our skies are bright, our hearts are full of Mayday music and of love. The world seems to us just about right now, and to be growing better. The people in it doing the best they know how. They are growing wiser day by day, and will grow wiser enough never to do wrong.

Health means energy, enthusiasm and ardent activity. It means a child-like trust that all is well, and that it will be well with us forever more.

Formerly beguiled by idleness, unclean, misanthropic, and every vile thing, the activities of the physical, the flush of joy, the holy balm of aspiration and a glorious anticipation of the great hereafter.

Increasing years, silver hair, old age, does not necessarily accompany with a "tattered mind," a stagnant memory, a decrepit body, a complaining tongue, an absence of all that is ideal in life.

We hear much of people sick from idleness. There are many more sick from doing nothing. The person who attempts to go through life without effort, letting others carry all the work, is not likely to make substantial progress in mental culture or physical development and strength.

The Force of Lightning.

The amount of light given by an electric lightning flash is enough, an electric calculator, to illuminate an area of two square miles. He bolts further off, but the remotest part of the region mentioned would have as much light as would be given by a candle—quite enough to read by.

To produce such a light it would be necessary to expend 12000 horsepower for a second. These figures appear large, but the time is short. The flash might be for only 1/1000000 of a second, and the total impression on the eye would mean only about four horsepower.

The question of how the static electricity gets into the clouds is difficult to answer. One theory is that it is generated by the evaporation of water. As the sun's rays strike the water, the static discharges are continually taking place from the earth into the air, and the air is thereby charged by particles of moisture. When the particles of moisture condense they form heavy thunder clouds, and this form of moisture causes the lightning flashes as explained—Chicago Tribune.

What Ancient Knew About Eclipses.

Scientists found out how to predict eclipses of the moon, but those of the sun baffled them. They observed the lunar cycle of eight and a half years eleven days, in which the moon returns to almost the same position in the heavens, but they could not apply this to solar eclipses, although they knew the period for both. The reason of the failure was that, although the moon's orbit is in the same plane within the cycle, they are not visible along the same part of the sun's surface. Eclipses of the moon are universally visible.

There are about the number of eclipses of the sun and moon together can be less than two or more. The most common number is four. It is very rarely that there are more than four. Astronomers observe what they call "eclipse seasons" for the moon, and the time is about the same for solar and twenty-three days for lunar eclipses. The seasons occur about twenty days earlier every year.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Ghee is used in India as is butter in America and Europe, so prepared that it never grows rancid, instances being known of its preservation for as long as 200 years.

In preparing ghee, butter is boiled until the watery particles and curds have been thrown off by repeated skimming. When the liquor is clear oil, it is poured into a vessel which is then sealed with a stopper, and will keep for years without becoming rancid or of bad flavor. There has been found in the oil of carles, where it must have been preserved for more than 200 centuries ago.—Tusky Las Casas.

There was, not long since, a venerable and benevolent judge in Paris who, at the moment of naming sentence on a prisoner, consulted his wife on each side of his head as to the proper penalty to be inflicted. "What ought we to give this rascal, brother?" he said, bowing over to one upon his right. "I should say 'three years'." "What is your opinion, brother?" to the other, on his left. "I should give him about four years." The Judge with a smile—"Prisoner, do you wish to give you a long and severe term of imprisonment, as I should have done if left to myself. I have consulted my learned brother and I shall take their advice. Send years!"

Not a Trusting Wife.

The day before she was to be married the old negro servant came in with a mistress and entreated her savings for her keeping.

"Why should I keep it? I thought you were going to get married!" said the wife.

"So I is, ma'am; but do you 'spos'd I'd keep all dis money in the house 'd dat strange nigger!"

Unbelievers and Parasols.

Fashions change in umbrellas as well as in clothes. We find on visiting the London Museum that George IV. used to carry a green silk umbrella fringed with gold, and about twice as large as the umbrellas of today. Parasols, too, have diminished in size. They first came into use in 1675, Henri Etienne, writing in 1678, speaks of a parasol as capable generally of sheltering four persons. The days of the parasol as a general shelter are over. When they diminished in circumference the material remained the same, with heavier. Bad velvet parasols, with heavy gold fringes, were carried by ladies of the aristocracy in the days of Henry, at that time it was possible, even crossing a bridge in Paris, to have a parasol at one end and deposit it at the other, the charge for the accommodation being a sou—London Chronicle.

"That Was 'Willie'."

The late Bishop William N. McVicker, of Rhode Island, harbored a large soul in a body to match. He was a bachelor, whose sister kept house for him.

"On one occasion he telephoned to his tailor that he wished to have a pair of trousers prepared, and the tailor sent a boy to his residence to get them.

The Bishop's sister admitted the messenger and called upstairs: "Willie, the boy has come for your trousers."

When her brother appeared the youth's astonished gaze traversed the prelate's impressive "corporeality," then he murmured: "That's Willie!"

AN INVITATION TO SICKNESS

Thin, Watery Blood Leads to a Break-down in Health.

Thin, impure blood is an invitation to sickness. The blood is at work every night to maintain the health and day light of strength or purity in the blood is a weakness in the defense against disease. Anemia is the doctor's name for this blood-water blood. There may be an actual loss in the quantity of blood or one or more of its constituents may be lacking. The surest test of anemia is a weak, listless, and the trouble is particularly common among young girls between the ages of four and eighteen, but is also found in women of all ages, and quite frequently attacks the male sex.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People is a tonic medicine in all these cases, because it builds up the nerves and restores health and strength. Under the name of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, this medicine has been proved in thousands and thousands of cases, among them that of Miss Annie Turner, Marie Joseph Post Office, N. Y. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been in the hands of the medical profession for half a century, and after taking the Pills for a time longer I was again in the full enjoyment of good health. I feel that I cannot praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too highly. I recommend them to all weak girls.

The late Bishop William N. McVicker, of Rhode Island, harbored a large soul in a body to match. He was a bachelor, whose sister kept house for him.

"On one occasion he telephoned to his tailor that he wished to have a pair of trousers prepared, and the tailor sent a boy to his residence to get them.

The Bishop's sister admitted the messenger and called upstairs: "Willie, the boy has come for your trousers."

When her brother appeared the youth's astonished gaze traversed the prelate's impressive "corporeality," then he murmured: "That's Willie!"

AN INVITATION TO SICKNESS

Thin, Watery Blood Leads to a Break-down in Health.

Thin, impure blood is an invitation to sickness. The blood is at work every night to maintain the health and day light of strength or purity in the blood is a weakness in the defense against disease. Anemia is the doctor's name for this blood-water blood. There may be an actual loss in the quantity of blood or one or more of its constituents may be lacking. The surest test of anemia is a weak, listless, and the trouble is particularly common among young girls between the ages of four and eighteen, but is also found in women of all ages, and quite frequently attacks the male sex.

PART THAT CANADA MAY TAKE IN PROTECTION OF THE EMPIRE

First Lord of the Admiralty Points Out the Opportunity of the Overseas Dominions in Matters of Naval Defence.

London.—Hon. Winston Churchill, first lord of the Admiralty, has recently stepped up to the greater reduction of the Royal Navy, which has meant a relative reduction in its mobility. "In this," Mr. Churchill continued, "is to be found the great opportunity, the great chance for the self-governing dominions, those strong young nations which have grown up all over the world under the shelter of the British flag and by the stimulus of its protection. They have begun to seize their opportunity already. We have seen the development in Australia, of a strong modern fleet unit. New Zealand has contributed a noble ship to the modern navy—in Canada men of all races and all parties are deeply stirred upon the subject of the share which the Dominion should take in the protection of the British Empire and the means by which it can be kept free from harm."

"We are soon to receive reinforcements," he continued, "from the Canadian Administration who are coming here to consider the possibility of the main naval developments of the last ten years have been the concentration of the fleet in the Atlantic and the Pacific. It seems to me not unlikely that the main naval developments of the next ten years will be in the Pacific, and that the forces in the great dominions of the Pacific will be able to make what I think will be found to be the true division of labor between the mother country and her daughter states, which is that we should maintain the sea supremacy against all comers at decisive points and they should guard and patrol all the rest of the British Empire. I am certainly not going to attempt to forecast or prescribe the exact form which these developments should take, though the march of opinion appears to be proceeding upon thoroughly practical lines. This, however, I will venture to say, the Admiralty sees no reason why any dominion should not be made to take up the dominions across the sea, a full measure of control over the movements in peace of any naval force which with our help may bring into efficient existence. In war we know our countries are bound to be made to take up the line to encounter the enemy fleet, and this is a danger, I think, most severe. The important thing which we must be able to do is that while we in the old country guard the decisive center our comrades and the dominions guard the periphery, the flag flying on the oceans of the world."
